Let’s talk TURKEY

Holiday season has officially arrived. It’s time for food, fun and fellowship with the people you love (or tolerate). In honor of Thanksgiving, I decided to use everyone’s favorite November bird to showcase the benefits of implementing TimeSolv’s time tracking and legal billing software into your law firm. So, let’s talk TURKEY

Time Management – The folks at TImeSolv understand the time restraints of running a successful legal practice. That’s why they created a tracking and billing system that promotes efficiency and accuracy. No more losing valuable minutes of your time with a time tracking software that works wherever you choose to work. Whether you are in the office, at the courthouse, or out to lunch, you can accurately track your time and rest assured that it will be automatically synced as soon as an internet connection is available. Custom invoices are quickly and easily created using your tracked hours of work. So, you can spend your time increasing profits instead of stressing about administrative tasks.

Useful – TimeSolv will not only be your go-to application for time tracking and billing, you will also find it’s wide range of other uses extremely helpful in the management of your law practice. Document integration allows you to maintain voluminous client files in a highly secure, but convenient manner. The software’s project management capabilities help you take your firm to the next level by implementing a profitable and efficient legal project model. Online client payment options, along with a variety of accounting system integrations, make TimeSolv your one-stop-shop for billing needs.

Reliability – Within a legal practice, there is no room for system downtimes or ineffective security measures. TImeSolv offers state-of-the-art security and data services to ensure that your confidential data stays safe and available to you at all times. With hosting by Amazon Web Services, along with strategically timed system updates, the company has consistently maintained an uptime of 99.95%.

Knowledge Center – TimeSolv doesn't just sign you up and leave you out there to figure out their services on your own. Nor do they charge you ridiculous amounts of money for consulting or training services (like many of their competitors). Instead, they make your understanding of their system part of their basic customer service. Not only do they have live experts available to help you by telephone, they also offer personalized training sessions and an online Knowledge Center that is filled with useful information and guidance.

Expense tracking – Expense tracking can be a pain, with a drawer full of receipts that only get reviewed when it's time to create an invoice. With TimeSolv, you can keep an up-to-date and accurate file of expenses related to each client. The document management system allows you to upload copies of receipts while also tracking the amount and date of the expense. When it's time to create an end voice, it is simple to input these expenses for client reimbursement.

Yearly reporting – With the end of the year fast approaching, it's important to know where you've been so you can best plan where you're going. TimeSolv's numerous reporting options enable you to choose various parameters to review such metrics as billable hours, accounts receivable, and individual attorney performance. With 31 available reports, you can rely on TimeSolv to give you an accurate picture of your firm.

These are only some of TimeSolv's impressive features. If you have yet to implement TimeSolv billing software into your firm, do yourself a favour by clicking here for a free 30-day trial. By December, your practice could be on its way to improved efficiency and increased profits.

About Erika Winston:

Erika Winston is a freelance writer with a passion for law. Through her business, The Legal Writing Studio, she helps legal professionals deliver effective written messages. Erika is a regular contributor to TimeSolv and a variety of other publications.