Whew, everyone got their breath back yet?!

Needless to say, we're all in a very different place then two weeks ago. For most of you, you're literally in a different physical space reading this. But for TimeSolv, we've had zero disruption to our work routine. Why, and what does this have to do with our Tip of the Week?

You see, TimeSolv has been working remotely from our home offices for almost 15 years. Our staff is spread out across the United States and around the world as we develop and serve our software for you.

I'm sure many of you have been seeing a myriad of webinars popping up the last week or so on how to successfully home office. However, we're not sure how many of those offerings are from people who have lived that existence as long as we have and, more importantly, how relevant they are to YOU.

I'm going to be conducting a webinar on Wednesday, March 25 at 2 p.m. Eastern time for TimeSolv users and anyone else who's interested in learning how we've successfully grown our business with home office employees. I'll also show you some tools in TimeSolv you may not be aware of that can help ease this transition and ensure you have everything you need to remain successful as a business.

Here's a quick bullet-point summary of some topics I'll cover.

- The essential tools you need for solid home officing...and the ones you don't need
- How to run your daily meetings (if you're not having daily meetings, you should)
- Using TimeSolv tools to streamline processes

Thanks and stay healthy.
